What we do
How does Members First Credit Union protect my personal information?	To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings. At Members First Credit Union, we protect member privacy by ensuring that only employees who have a business reason for knowing information have access to it.
How does Members First Credit Union collect my personal information?	We collect your personal information, for example, when you • open an account or make deposit or withdrawal from your account • pay your bills or apply for a loan • use your credit or debit card We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus and other companies.
Why can't I limit all sharing?	Federal law gives you the right to limit only • sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness • affiliates from using your information to market to you • sharing for non-affiliates to market to you State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.
What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?	Your choices will apply to everyone on your account.
